GENERAL CONDITIONS AND THE REGULATIONS OF MANNERS IN THE MARINA VERUDAI. GENERAL REGULATIONS

The regulations of these general conditions refer to all the owners of vessels as well as to those people who stay in the Marina. It is considered that, when you enter the Marina, you accept these regulations and conditions which are displayed on the notice board and at the marina entrance.

II. DEFINING THE PLACES FOR MOORING BOATS AND SHIPS

The Marina Veruda is in charge of providing places for mooring boats and ships in accordance with their plans for mooring vessels, and the Marina is also in charge of moving every vessel if needed. A permanent berth in the Marina is regulated by a contract signed between the owner of a vessel, in the other words, with the user of the vessel.

Each vessel user must have valid insurance police for the damage it can make to the other vessels, people or to the marina.

The Marina is in charge to rule out special conditions for vessels which require special treatment.

It is thought that the vessel is given to be looked after, after the contract has been completed and signed, together with an inventory list, and then the vessel-keys are deposited at the Reception. The Marina Veruda is not in charge of those vessels that haven't been given to be looked after.

III. SAILING INTO THE MARINA, MOORING AND ANCHORAGE OF THE VESSELS

On his sailing into the Marina Veruda, the captain is obliged to check in at the Reception, and show the documents of his vessel, without delay. He is also obliged to report every time when he leaves the Marina Veruda.

During their sailing inside the Marina Veruda Zone, the vessels should not sail more than 2 knots.

The vessels in the Marina Veruda are moored in such a way that the stern is directed towards the shore. The mooring of the vessels must be done safely, the ropes should be proper, and they must have the adequate dimensions. The tied vessels must not interrupt the sailing of the other vessels. If a vessel is not tied properly, an employee from the Marina Veruda will moor the vessel properly (the owner of the vessel will be charged for employees work).

On the switchboard electricity locker only a connection with the proper electricity cables is allowed.

Water connection can be made only with those tubes which have a closing valve on their endings.

IV. SAILING OUT FROM THE MARINA VERUDA

Before leaving the Marina, a user of the facilities in the Marina is due to pay for all those facilities he has used during his stay in the Marina, according to the Price List valid for the Marina. Marina may keep the possession of the guest's vessel or his belongings until he pays his debts completely.

If a vessel is transported from the Marina on the roads, all the operations of craning the vessel and loading it into the vehicle are organized by the Repair and Maintenance Reception Office or by the Reception of the Marina Veruda.

During the absence of the boat, the Marina can rent the place to other users.
